Wykagyl Country Club — New Rochelle, NY

Director of Agronomy — 05/2025 - Present

Established in 1898, Wykagyl Country Club is a highly regarded, member-owned private club in Westchester County, featuring a classic parkland golf course with historic push-up Poa annua greens. The club has a strong championship pedigree, hosted the Metropolitan Open Championship and a variety of professional events, including LPGA Tour events such as the JAL/Sybase Big Apple Classic. Known for its consistent conditioning standards, the club remains committed to thoughtful restoration and continuous improvement, inclluding collaboration with Coore & Crenshaw.

Provide executive leadership of all agronomic operations at a premier private club, delivering consistently elite playing conditions aligned with championship standards

Oversee and strategically manage a $3.6M annual operating budget, optimizing Union labor, inputs, and resource allocation while maintaining exceptional course quality

Direct planning and execution of $1M–$1.5M in annual capital improvements and equipment investments, including course enhancements, infrastructure upgrades, and equipment modernization

Host site for one of the Metropolitan Golf Association's four major championships, the Women's Metropolitan Amateur Championship (2026), coordinating course preparation and tournament conditioning at a championship level

Lead the restoration and refinement of agronomic practices on 125-year-old push-up Poa annua greens, enhancing surface consistency, firmness, smoothness, speed, and trueness while preserving historic character

Achieved significant organic matter reduction in greens and approaches, resulting in measurable improvements in firmness, playability, and overall turf performance

Implemented a targeted water reduction program, decreasing overall water usage by 10–15% while simultaneously improving playing surface conditions and turf health

Deliver capital projects including tree management initiatives, infrastructure upgrades, and facility improvements on or below budget, maintaining strong financial discipline without compromising quality

Collaborate with nationally recognized architects Coore & Crenshaw on course design enhancements, ensuring preservation of architectural integrity while improving playability and conditioning

Launched a projected $10.5M golf course master plan encompassing irrigation and infrastructure upgrades, tee leveling and construction, green expansions, and fairway recontouring and expansion

Implement a progressive tree removal and landscape management program, significantly improving turf health, airflow, sunlight exposure, and strategic course presentation

Oversee all construction and renovation initiatives, coordinating with architects, contractors, and club leadership to deliver projects on time and within budget

Roaring Fork Club Basalt, CO
Director of Agronomy 09/2017 - 05/2025

Nestled on 282 acres of rich land on either side of the Roaring Fork River between Basalt and Aspen, Colorado. This par-72, 7,312 yard Jack Nicklaus Signature Course is sculpted along the dramatic contours of the river valley, respect for the land and the fine outdoor tradition of golf is evident in the layout. The Roaring Fork Club provides a lifestyle for those who seek the purest of golf, fishing, family, health and wellness.

Responsible for multiple operating budgets totaling over $5M; demonstrated fiduciary responsibility by effectively managing golf course resources to ensure optimal turf health and environmental sustainability, while balancing the financial interests of the club and its members

Oversaw the management of clubhouse grounds and cabin landscapes on property; manage 5 separate departments total

Managed an annual capital expense budget of $1.3-$1.5M, overseeing strategic planning, resource allocation, and project implementation to enhance facility operations and member satisfaction

Initiated an irrigation system upgrade for approval of $6.8M irrigation system and golf course renovation in the Fall of 2018

Re-established "native" areas throughout the property in order to reduce inputs and aesthetics

Oak Hill Country Club Rochester, NY
